MODULE-J: EMPLOYMENT

[INSTRUCTION: Ask this module to the Project participant with other knowledgeable household members]

DEFINITIONS:

Wage-Employment: This is a situation in which an individual receives a wage for work done for another person, organization or enterprise in both the formal and informal economy. A salary can be either in kind or cash, or a mix of the two.

Self-Employment: This is a situation in which individuals work for themselves instead of working for an employer that pays a salary or a wage. Self-employed individuals earn income through conducting profitable operations from a business they operate.

Non-Employment: Consider as non-employment if the beneficiary is neither wage employed nor self-employed. If the beneficiary is employed on temporary basis (daily, monthly, seasonally), should be considered either wage or self-employed based on the above definitions.

Employment: Employment is not valid for those who very infrequently employ others (less than one day a month). Employing others is defined as a self-employed beneficiary who has one or more persons working for them (in farming, livestock, fisheries production etc.) and pays them remuneration either in cash or in-kind. In-kind payment can be in the form of a portion of the produce (e.g., rice, maize, beans etc.), tools and equipment etc.

Permanent: When a worker is employed for a period of 12 months or more.
