Annual Consultations with NGOs

2019 PARTNERS IN BRIEF

WORKING TOGETHER
BETTER

The purpose of this booklet is to facilitate networking and to help you identify organizations with similar or complementary areas of interest. This initiative stemmed from comments from Partners attending previous Annual Consultations about facilitating networking and knowing “who’s who”.

This booklet is a consolidation of the Partners that completed Part II of the form giving details on the history and purpose of the organization, its structure and activities. The information contained in this booklet has been extracted from your registration forms and was shared on a voluntary basis. Some formatting was necessary in view of space constraints; however, no details were edited.

If you would like to get in touch directly with a delegate of one of the organisations listed below, please refer to the participants list.

The Partnership Section would be happy to hear from you regarding the usefulness of the booklet, its format, the content and any other points you think important. Please send your comments to partnership@unhcr.org.

Profile

Amnesty International campaigns for a world where human rights can be enjoyed by everyone, no matter what situation they are in. Amnesty has championed the human rights of refugees, asylum-seekers and migrants for decades. We campaign to make sure governments honour their shared responsibility to protect the rights of refugees, asylum-seekers and migrants. We condemn any policies and practices that undermine the rights of people on the move. With our campaigns, we put pressure on governments to honour their responsibility to protect every single person's rights. They must make sure that refugees, asylum-seekers and migrants are safe, and are not tortured, discriminated against or left living in poverty.

Help Refugees, United Kingdom

Website	https://helprefugees.org/
Profile	Help Refugees established in 2015 in response to the situation faced by displaced people in the Calais 'Jungle'. We partnered with a local NGO, rented a warehouse, sorted and distributed donations, and built shelters. What had started as a group of friends hoping to raise £1,000, became the biggest aid operation in northern France. Since 2015, we have helped over 1 million people, managed 30,000 volunteers and supported over 80 projects across Europe and the Middle East. We pioneered a fieldwork-first and networked approach to humanitarian aid working with local partners to identify urgent needs and building the capacity of grassroots groups working in response to them. Our advocacy work opened safe, legal routes for child refugees and 2,000 children were granted sanctuary in the UK.
