

Funding UNHCR

| Introduction |

UNHCR presented a global needs-based budget of USD 3,924 million for 2013 requirements to its Executive Committee for approval in October 2012. This budget was considerably revised as the year progressed to respond to the many new emergency needs, reaching an unprecedented level of USD 5,335 million in total requirements by the end of December. Overall, 2013 requirements exceeded those of 2012 by 25 per cent.

Donors were called upon to dig ever deeper into their funding reserves to respond to the critical humanitarian needs that arose in 2013. Once again, UNHCR was extremely grateful for the strong, sustained support of its governmental, intergovernmental, United Nations and private-sector donors. At the same time, the Office was also deeply appreciative of the immeasurable contributions made by hosting countries, whose populations provided safety and hospitality for millions of refugees, despite huge pressure on their own national and local infrastructures (see chapter on Hosting the World's Refugees).

Contributions in 2013 amounted to USD 2,965 million, USD 647 million more than in 2012. However, the funds available could cover only some 60 per cent of the 2013 comprehensive budgetary requirements, leaving many of the needs of people of concern to UNHCR unmet.

It should be noted that in this report, all income and expenditures presented have been prepared using the modified cash basis accounting method (see glossary), whereas UNHCR's financial statements are prepared in accordance with International Public Sector Accounting Standards (IPSAS).

| Global needs assessment |

In the first quarter of 2012, UNHCR operations developed country-level strategies and plans for 2013 through a participatory and consultative process. The planning for 2013 was based on a comprehensive assessment of needs, a collaborative undertaking in all operations which involved partners and key stakeholders, and built on sectoral assessments and surveys, including gaps identified through the ongoing implementation of programmes. Taking into account the evolving operational context, these assessments revealed gaps in the overall protection situation, as well as areas where the delivery of assistance and support to people of concern did not meet basic humanitarian standards. The plans and budgetary requirements reflected a realistic assessment of what would be needed to respond to the full range of needs known at that time, and the extent to which it was reasonable to consider that timely funding would be forthcoming and that the programmes planned could be implemented within the one-year timeframe. These plans were then subjected to a thorough executive-level review in April-May 2012, which included their alignment with the Global Strategic Priorities set for the 2012-2013 biennium (see chapter on Global Strategic Priorities).

In the last quarter of 2012, all UNHCR operations developed more detailed prioritized plans in preparation for implementation in January 2013. Once again, partners were consulted and initial planning assumptions reviewed and reassessed. Frequently, plans had to be adjusted in order to cater for events which had occurred subsequent to the initial planning, for example: new arrivals; fresh opportunities to pursue durable solutions; or other developments which affected the situation of people of concern.

As the plans are based on a comprehensive assessment of needs, and the Office is funded through voluntary contributions that are received at various times throughout the year, UNHCR operations must undertake a careful prioritization of the implementation of the plan, within an initial projection of resource availability. In the course of the year, operational developments are closely monitored in order to identify new emergency situations and assess the extent and criticality of needs, in order to direct additional resources to operations, as funds become available.

In 2013, UNHCR responded to several emergencies and displacement crises that were not foreseen in the original planning. Consequently, several supplementary budgets were launched to respond to the needs of people of concern (see Table 2).

R's programmes

| Requirements |

At its 62nd Session in October 2011, the Executive Committee had approved an original budget for 2013 of USD 3,418 million based on a global needs assessment (GNA). Subsequently, in October 2012 at its 63rd session, the Executive Committee approved a revised budget of USD 3,924 million. Supplementary requirements in 2013 brought the final annual budget to USD 5,335 billion, of which USD 5,084 million was for programmed activities. The final 2013 budget incorporates seven supplementary budgets, amounting to USD 1,413 million, established by the High Commissioner in accordance with UNHCR Financial Rule 7.5, to address unforeseen and new emergency needs in refugee and internal displacement (IDP) situations. During the year, additional requirements of USD 64.5 million were also met from the Operational Reserve (USD 61.5 million) and the “New or additional activities mandate-related” (NAM) Reserve (USD 3.0 million).

Chart 1 below discloses revised approved requirements and final requirements for programmed activities by pillar and geographic region. The budgetary allocations, and corresponding percentages of the total USD 5,084 million for the different pillars of the overall programmed activities in 2013, were as follows: Pillar 1 for refugee programmes: USD 3,936 million (77 per cent); Pillar 2 for stateless programmes: USD 79 million (2 per cent); Pillar 3 for reintegration projects: USD 249 million (5 per cent); and Pillar 4 for IDP projects: USD 820 million (16 per cent). These figures confirm the continuous growth of the Office's involvement in refugee emergencies since 2010, a trend that was highlighted also in last year's report on 2012. The requirements for programmed activities have increased by 25 per cent (approximately USD 1 billion) in comparison with the final 2012 budget, mainly due to the deteriorating conditions in existing crises, notably in the Middle East and in Africa.

Note: Excludes JPOs

As was the case in 2012, in 2013 Africa continued to account for the largest portion of total programmed activities – approximately USD 1,967 million (39 per cent). The bulk of the requirements (USD 1,597 million or 81 per cent of the total) were in Pillar 1 for refugee programmes, followed by USD 257 million (13 per cent) for IDP projects in Pillar 4.

Requirements for North Africa and the Middle East (USD 1,613 million) remained second highest, and almost doubled in comparison to 2012, representing 32 per cent of overall programmed activities in 2013, with USD 1,224 million (76 per cent) in Pillar 1 for refugee programmes, followed by USD 356 million (22 per cent) in Pillar 4 for IDP projects.

Asia and the Pacific remained stable at approximately USD 595 million (12 per cent), followed by Europe at USD 385 million (7.5 per cent), and the Americas at USD 102 million (2 per cent). The remaining USD 422 million (8 per cent) was for Global Programmes and Headquarters.

At the country level, in 2013 the major operational requirements were located in the Middle East countries involved in the emergency response to the worsening crisis in and around Syria. The largest requirements were in Jordan, amounting to USD 367.6 million, 100 per cent of which was for refugee programmes. Lebanon was the second largest operation with needs of USD 362.1 million, again almost entirely for refugee programmes. Syria accounted for some USD 317.9 million, of which USD 233 million (73 per cent) was for IDP activities. Iraq had the fourth-largest level of requirements, amounting to USD 293.7 million, of which USD 182.9 million (62 per cent) was for refugee programmes. The four operations together accounted for some USD 1,341.3 million – 29 per cent of the total field requirements for 2013.

In Europe, Turkey had total requirements of USD 225.6 million which were almost entirely for refugee programmes related to the Syria situation.

In Africa, Kenya was the largest operation, with requirements of USD 251.6 million, almost exclusively related to refugee programmes under Pillar 1, followed by South Sudan with USD 220.2 million, of which 77 per cent was for refugee activities. In Asia, Afghanistan accounted for some USD 131.4 million of which 50 per cent was for reintegration projects under Pillar 3.

In 2013, UNHCR utilized 22 per cent, or USD 61.5 million, of its Operational Reserve to meet additional needs in field operations, Global Programmes and at Headquarters. 60 per cent of the requirements met from the Operational Reserve were for Global Programmes, 27 per cent for field operations, followed by Headquarters 13 per cent.

During 2013, the use of the NAM reserve amounted to USD 3 million, or 15 per cent of the total approved amount of USD 20 million, with the largest allocation going to Asia and the Pacific for operations in Bangladesh, to provide assistance to refugees from Myanmar’s northern Rakhine State (USD 1.7 million or 57 per cent of the total).

| Income |

In another year of remarkable donor support, total contributions in 2013 increased to USD 2,965 million. This figure includes the United Nations Regular Budget assessed contribution of USD 46.32 million, but not a carry-over from 2012 in the amount of USD 236.1 million or net income of USD 40 million from adjustments, transfers and other sources. With the inclusion of the carry-over and income from adjustments, transfers and other source, the overall funds available to UNHCR operations were USD 3,234 million. Contributions to UNHCR are shown by type of budget, in nominal and real terms, in CHART 2.

While UNHCR continued to work on broadening its sources of income, the share of contributions remained practically the same as in 2012, with approximately 52 per cent of voluntary contributions provided by UNHCR’s top three donors, and 82 per cent by the top 10 donors. The top three donors in 2013 remained the United States, Japan and the European Union, followed by private-sector donations, the United Kingdom and Sweden. UNHCR’s main donors are shown in Chart 4, while the full list of donors in 2013 can be found in Table 4. More detailed donor profiles are presented in the annexes.

CHART 4 Main donors in 2013

POOLED FUNDING AND DEVELOPMENT PARTNERSHIPS

In 2013, UNHCR continued to seek funding from decentralized humanitarian, transitional and development sources, and to support field operations in the preparation of submissions. Further investment was made at both headquarters and field levels to produce high quality proposals and reports on the implementation of projects through such funding streams.

The total amount of contributions received from UN-managed pooled and trust funds in 2013 was USD 94.9 million, compared to USD 121.3 million in 2012. While funding from the Central Emergency Response Fund (CERF) remained stable at some USD 70 million, contributions from the Common Humanitarian Funds (CHF) decreased from USD 21 million in 2012 to USD 9 million in 2013, owing to a significant drop in funds received from the CHF Sudan. The CHF contributions of USD 9 million were for needs in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Somalia, South Sudan and Sudan. Other significant pooled funding was received from the UN Delivering as One Funds (USD 5 million) and from UNAIDS (USD 4.9 million). The CERF remains a significant funding source, amongst the top 20 contributors to UNHCR in 2013.

In 2013, UNHCR continued to strengthen its partnerships with development actors, including UNDP and the World Bank, as well as to ensure that displacement issues are on the development agenda. In addition to the Solutions Strategy for Afghan Refugees to Support Voluntary Repatriation, Sustainable Reintegration and Assistance to Host Countries and the Transitional Solutions Initiative in Eastern Sudan and in Colombia, UNHCR is also partnering with a broad coalition of States, civil society groups, international organizations and others through the Solutions Alliance, a new network of actors committed to addressing protracted displacement situations and avoiding new protracted displacement situations.

PRIVATE SECTOR FUNDRAISING

UNHCR experienced another year of notable achievements in building relations and drawing contributions from the private sector. In 2013, the organization raised USD 191 million through its private-sector fundraising (PSFR) network, representing a leap in funding of 46 per cent in just one year. CHART 5 shows the evolution in recent years of private-sector income, which has grown more than 900 per cent since 2006.

In Chart 6 which displays private-sector contributions by origin, it can be seen that the private-sector donor base continues to increase and expand. Contributions from private donors in the Netherlands, Spain, Australia, Japan, Italy, the United Arab Emirates, Germany, Qatar, the United States and the Republic of Korea were the top 10 sources of UNHCR's private-sector funding in 2013.

CHART 6 2013 Private-sector contributions by origin

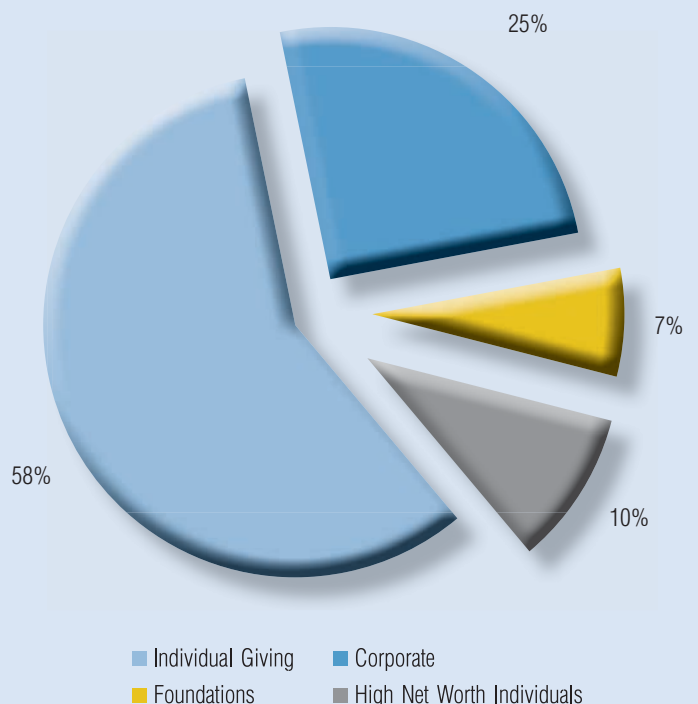

CHART 7 Private-sector contributions in 2013 by source

Individual donors, as shown in Chart 7, remain the largest source of private-sector contributions, with USD 110.5 million or 58 per cent of private-sector income. The Leadership Giving programme, which includes contributions from corporate partners, foundations and philanthropists, grew to reach USD 80.4 million in total contributions.

CHART 8 Number of individuals contributing to UNHCR | 2006 - 2013

Once again, UNHCR continued to advocate for unrestricted income, which allows for greater flexibility in managing resources, particularly when there are many emergencies that may detract from underfunded operations. In 2013, 51.4 per cent of the income transferred to the private sector was unearmarked or broadly earmarked. As can be seen in Chart 8, the number of individual donors by the end of 2013 increased to over 822,000, a growth of approximately 30 per cent compared to 2012. These contributions are due in large part to face-to-face fundraising, which is a vital part of the private-sector global programme, and is implemented by UNHCR offices and national fundraising partners.

Overall, 2013 was another year of progress when UNHCR focused in particular on extending its Leadership Giving programme and acquiring new individual donors who represent long-term, sustainable private sector revenue for the work of the organization.

| Quality of contributions |

In order to provide predictable and uninterrupted protection and assistance for populations of concern, the Office depends on early and unrestricted donor support. Predictable funding is essential to plan, budget and implement operations in a timely and efficient manner.

As can be seen in Chart 9, unrestricted contributions to UNHCR, which had shown an encouraging increase to 24 per cent in 2011, continued a downward trend, representing just 16 per cent of overall contributions in 2013. At the same time, tightly earmarked contributions rose from 47 per cent to 64 per cent. Chart 10 illustrates a further breakdown of the level of earmarking of contributions received by UNHCR in 2013. Given the important role that unrestricted contributions play in allowing operations to start up and continue without interruption throughout the year, especially at times when new emergencies tend to divert resources from less visible operations, UNHCR will continue to encourage donors to provide more unrestricted support.

| Management of funds |

UNHCR's total budget in 2013 reached over USD 5,335 million, comprised of USD 5,084 million for programmed activities, USD 239 million as reserve balances and USD 12 million for Junior Professional Officers (JPOs). Funds available exceeded USD 3,234 million, representing an increase of approximately USD 640 million (25 per cent) in comparison with 2012. Expenditure also increased by some USD 614 million (26 per cent) in comparison with 2012, reaching USD 2,971 million. The total 2013 expenditure included USD 2,963 million for programmed activities and USD 8.0 million for JPOs. The resulting 2013 closing balance was approximately USD 262 million, including funds earmarked specifically for the continuation of some activities programmed for 2014.

The budgets, funds available and expenditure continued their upward trend with further significant increases in 2013. These figures reflect the burgeoning numbers and needs of people of concern affected by the major emergency situations that the Office was called upon to respond to in 2013, in addition to the requirements assessed through the comprehensive needs-based planning and budgeting exercise for the year, as approved by the Executive Committee in October 2012. While the funds available and expenditure grew proportionately, the chart illustrates clearly the considerable gap of some USD 2 billion (or 39 per cent) between funds available and overall requirements in 2013.

Expenditure for refugee programmes (Pillar 1) amounted to USD 2,393 million (80 per cent) of the total expenditure for programmed activities. This represented an increase of 29 per cent in comparison with expenditure for refugee programmes in 2012. Expenditure for IDP projects (Pillar 4) amounted to USD 451 million. This reflects an increase of approximately USD 107 million (or 31 per cent) in comparison with expenditure for IDP projects in 2012. The ratio of expenditure for IDP projects in 2013 was 15 per cent of the total expenditure for programmed activities, and remains stable in relation to 2012. Expenditure on reintegration projects (Pillar 3) and stateless programmes (Pillar 2) amounted to USD 91 million and USD 36 million respectively, and while the ratios remained fairly stable compared to 2012 figures (3 per cent and 1 per cent of the total, respectively), in dollar terms expenditure in Pillar 3 fell by USD 27 million. Chart 3 provides further details on expenditure breakdown by region and pillar.

Although, in dollar terms, 2013 expenditure in Africa remained stable compared to 2012, it accounted for 33 per cent of total expenditure for programmed activities. In percentage terms, this represents a decrease of 8 per cent in comparison with 2012 figures. On the other hand, expenditure in the Middle East and North Africa region continued to rise, doubling in dollar terms to reach approximately USD 1,058 million, and accounting for 36 per cent of total expenditure, a rise of 14 per cent in comparison with 2012. This increase reflects the continuing and new displacements in these regions throughout the period.

Expenditure in the Asia and the Pacific region declined in the period under review, from 13 per cent in 2012 to 10 per cent of total expenditures in 2013. Europe and the Americas remained at the same level overall in percentage terms as in 2012, accounting for 6 and 2 per cent of total expenditure respectively. However, in dollar terms, expenditure for Europe actually increased by USD 36 million. The overall proportion of expenditure on Global Programmes also remained stable at 7 per cent, while in dollar terms it went up by USD 46 million. The expenditure on Headquarters continued to go down: from 8 per cent in 2012 to 6.5 per cent in 2013. Chart 4 reflects these ratios.

In 2013 UNHCR continued to operate a special account to administer the Common Humanitarian Pipeline in Sudan. During the year, USD 7.5 million and USD 7 million were accounted for in the special account as total revenue and expenditure respectively.

| Conclusion |

With the proliferation of major displacement crises in 2013, particularly in the Middle East and in Africa, UNHCR was challenged and tested on many fronts to manage the needs of ever-expanding numbers of people of concern and to mobilize more resources than ever before in its history. The Office is extremely grateful for the continued commitment of donors and hosting countries. Without this support – political, material and financial – it would not be possible to protect and assist almost 43 million forcibly displaced people across the world.
