

Side event of the 75th session of the Executive Committee

A route-based approach: Towards effective responses to mixed movements of refugees and migrants

Moderated by

Ms. Ruven Menikdiwela, Assistant High Commissioner for Protection, UNHCR

Speakers:

Ms. Elizabeth Tan, Director, Division of International Protection, UNHCR

Mr. Vincent Cochetel, Special Envoy of the High Commissioner for the Central Mediterranean Situation, UNHCR

Ms. Eva Akerman Borje, Director, Department of Policy and Research, International Organization for Migration

Photo credit: © UNHCR/Viola E. Bruttomesso

Mixed movements of refugees and migrants pose significant, multifaceted challenges. Responding more effectively and predictably to these challenges requires a broader, route-based approach. The event will inform Member States of the objectives of the route-based approach as proposed by UNHCR and IOM and on the interventions proposed to reduce dangerous journeys and related human suffering. The event will also highlight lawful policy options to be considered by States and other stakeholders as part of their responses to mixed movements.

Thursday, 17 October 2024

08:30 – 09:45

Palais des Nations, Building E, room XXVI

Refreshments will be served outside of the room prior to the event.

Interpretation in English, French and Spanish will be made available.

Registration form

