Description

This special session will present the preliminary findings of the forthcoming World Bank 2023 World Development Report: Migrants, Refugees and Societies, as a basis for discussion on the role of development cooperation in forced displacement, statelessness and mixed migration contexts. Acknowledging the challenges the global community currently faces with respect to solutions, the 2023 World Development Report asks: how can cross-mobility be managed in a manner that is beneficial to all?

The special session will discuss the implications of the findings of the 2023 World Development Report for policies and programming to advance protection and solutions. Additionally, the conversation will draw from reflections and lessons learned from the Colombian Government's experience in hosting displaced people and advancing durable solutions.

PARALLEL SPOTLIGHT SESSIONS

During the High Commissioner's Dialogue, parallel spotlight sessions will be convened to explore the role of development cooperation across the cycle of displacement, from early action, to inclusion and solutions, with protection central and cross-cutting throughout. The co-moderators will frame each spotlight session's theme with a short conversation guided by three discussion questions and then open up the floor to participants for a discussion.

SPOTLIGHT SESSION 1

INVESTING IN THE RESILIENCE OF LOCAL GOVERNMENTS AND COMMUNITIES AS FIRST RESPONDERS

15:00 - 18:00

Room A-B-C

INTERPRETATION | ENGLISH, FRENCH, SPANISH

Co-moderators

- Mr. Vincent Cochetel | Special Envoy for the Central Mediterranean Situation, UNHCR
- Ms. Emilia Sáiz Carracedo | Secretary-General, United Cities and Local Governments

Discussion questions

- 1 Local governments and communities are often the first responders to displacement and statelessness. How can they be better equipped and supported to prepare for and respond to displacement, statelessness and risks of statelessness?
- 2 Urban strategies with a strong approach to age, gender, and diversity in displacement contexts can provide a shared blueprint for multi-stakeholder collaboration. What can we learn from promising practices where humanitarian, development and peace actors are supporting such protection-centred urban strategies?
- 3 Financial resources and technical capacity are important for effective policy responses and planning for solutions. What mechanisms are needed to coordinate, fund and strengthen technical capacity to support long-term planning at the local government and community levels?

SPOTLIGHT SESSION 2

THE ROLE OF THE PRIVATE SECTOR IN PROMOTING ECONOMIC INCLUSION

15:00 - 18:00

Room D

INTERPRETATION | ENGLISH, FRENCH, SPANISH

- Co-moderators
- Mr. Raouf Mazou | Assistant High Commissioner for Operations, UNHCR
 - Mr. Sérgio Pimenta | Vice-President for Africa, International Finance Corporation

- Discussion questions
- 1 | There is a need to identify the ways in which the actions of the private sector can complement those of humanitarian, development and government actors. What are the opportunities and challenges for private sector engagement in displacement and statelessness contexts? What role can governments, local actors, non-governmental organizations and refugee-led organizations play in overcoming these challenges and seizing opportunities?
 - 2 | Legal and practical barriers to decent work, freedom of movement, documentation and identification, and the enjoyment of other rights, are critical to ensuring the protection environment necessary for enabling economic inclusion. How can we ensure protection is upheld and advanced in market-based approaches in forced displacement contexts?
 - 3 | In recent years, private sector actors have increasingly engaged in forced displacement contexts. Where have private investments made a real difference? What are the most promising pathways to engaging with these actors, and how do we scale up these approaches?

SPOTLIGHT SESSION 3

SUPPORTING VOLUNTARY SUSTAINABLE RETURNS AND (RE)INTEGRATION

15:00 - 18:00

Room E-F

INTERPRETATION | ENGLISH, FRENCH, SPANISH

- Co-moderators
- Ms. Kelly T. Clements | Deputy High Commissioner, UNHCR
 - Ms. Asako Okai | UN Assistant Secretary-General and Director, Crisis Bureau, United Nations Development Programme

- Discussion questions
- 1 | While for some displaced people, return would be the preferred solution, it is not an option for all. What are the promising practices and challenges in supporting voluntary returns and sustainable reintegration? How can development, humanitarian and peace actors at the local and national levels support governments in this process?
 - 2 | Participatory planning can contribute to facilitating sustainable return and reintegration. How can area-based approaches, which often involve multiple actors and government entities, support the conditions needed for voluntary return and reintegration? How do we ensure communities play an active role in planning and programming to ensure that they are sensitive to age, gender and diversity considerations?
 - 3 | Conditions needed for voluntary return depend on national leadership and successful regional and cross-border coordination to ensure a comprehensive solutions approach. How can development cooperation strengthen institutional capacities and regional coordination mechanisms to support comprehensive solutions?

THURSDAY, 8 DECEMBER 2022

During the High Commissioner's Dialogue, parallel spotlight sessions will be convened to explore the role of development cooperation across the cycle of displacement, from early action, to inclusion and solutions, with protection central and cross-cutting throughout. The co-moderators will frame each spotlight session's theme with a short conversation guided by three discussion questions and then open up the floor to participants for a discussion.

- 2 Stronger linkages across the displacement cycle – preparedness, displacement, emergency response and durable solutions – are needed. How can better synergies in policies and practices be built between development and humanitarian coordination and financing efforts?
- 3 Bolstering national protection systems and integrating protection considerations into national planning is critical for preparedness. How can humanitarian-development collaboration enhance protection functions (such as reception, registration, status determination, data, documentation and child protection) in national planning and emergency response?

- Ms. Caroline Bahnson | Practice Manager, Fragility, Conflict and Violence, World Bank

Discussion questions

- 1 Increased and dedicated funding instruments, coupled with strong political will and enabling policy environments, have provided fertile ground to support socioeconomic inclusion. How can we build on these experiences to further the inclusion of displaced and stateless people in national systems?
- 2 While many States have made progress towards meeting their protection responsibilities, displaced and stateless people often still face barriers to accessing socioeconomic opportunities. What are the policy barriers, funding gaps and protection challenges that hinder the inclusion of displaced and stateless people?
- 3 The recognition of forced displacement as a development challenge has brought international attention to underserved host communities. How has inclusion benefited displaced and host communities and local economies? How can standards in services and systems be improved for both displaced and host communities?
